Avoid anything that will sap your strength. Smoking in your youth stunts the body and clouds the brain. Be temperate in all things and beware of drink. It is the deadly enemy of health and efficiency.

Above all, remember that your character is a priceless possession. Therefore keep it untarnished. Be truthful in all things, courteous and considerate to everybody, fair to your rivals, kind and helpful in all who are weak and suffering and do not be afraid to have the courage to stand up for what is good, pure and noble. Avoid gambling in every form; it is a mean game, trying to get something for nothing, and at other people's expense.

The Great Wall of China is said to be the one structure built by man on earth which would be visible to observe on the moon. It covers a distance of 1,500 miles as the crow flies. From the Liotung Peninsula westward to the last fortress in Central Asia, it crosses the northern provinces of China. But with its actual course, twisting and turning, sweeping across deep valleys, covers over 2,000 miles.

In the eastern section its height varies from 15 to 13 feet, and its width from about 25 feet at the bottom to 15 feet at the top, where there is a path way wide enough for six horsemen to ride side by side protected by parapets. When the wall was first built it had about 25,000 towers, each 40 to 48 feet high projecting from it every few hundred yards with holes from which the defenders could shoot at attackers.

The great Emperor shih Huang Ti joined three earlier frontier Walls to form a Great Wall which was to act as a boundary between China and the north, and keep out the feared nomads of the Mongolian steppes. The wall was not then, as it later became in Ming times, a substitute for a strong army and State.
